Introduction

In this area of the Procurement Journey site, you will find additional information and resources to help support you on your journey.

These pages are regularly updated to give users the most current best practice guidance around some of the key areas of consideration when you are conducting a procurement exercise of any value and risk profile.

If there are any areas where further information or signposting would be of benefit, please contact us via the Procurement Journey.